NEW TOWN PROJECT

Community Garden and Green Jobs Program

This project supports the development of a community garden site in New Town, creating a place where youth, families, and residents can spend time outside, learn together, and build skills through hands-on gardening and green space activities.

Key elements include:

- garden infrastructure and green space activation, helping establish a community garden that serves as an outdoor learning and growing environment for residents
- green jobs training and skill-building, with introductory workshops in urban agriculture, soil health, and food production that connect participants to entry-level skills and pathways into the green economy
- youth and family engagement, with garden-based activities and mentorship from local growers to help build the next generation of community stewards
